Phone & Internet Lines Are Vulnerable!

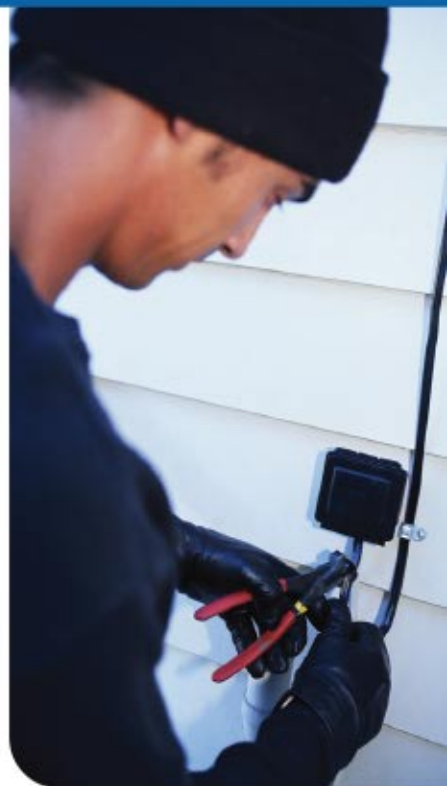

Burglars have known for years that simply cutting your Phone or Internet line outside the home disables the alarm before it can notify the police!

Running security through your internet connection is less secure. When power is lost, your system goes down.

A Cellular Connection is the solution!

Wireless monitoring ensures your system is always up and running - protecting you and your family.

Enjoy Simplicity

Total Home Control

Control the automation in your house from your panel, and use audible commands to control your entire home.

View Live Video

Watch all your cameras live from your Smart Home keypad and your mobile devices from anywhere! Speak to visitors at your door from the safety of your living room.

Built-In Glassbreak Detection

Most break-ins occur through broken windows. Your built in Glassbreak Detector will trigger your alarm before they can enter your home.

SmartPhone App

Stay in control from anywhere! You can remotely manage your system using your iPhone or Android smartphone. Control your locks, thermostat, lights, doorbell cam, even your garage door via your mobile app.

Lock Bumping & Crime

What is Lock Bumping?

There are many techniques that thieves have developed to bypass traditional pin and tumbler locks that are present in most homes. One such technique is called "bumping." Lock bumping, uses a specially cut key that can defeat conventional pin and tumbler locks.

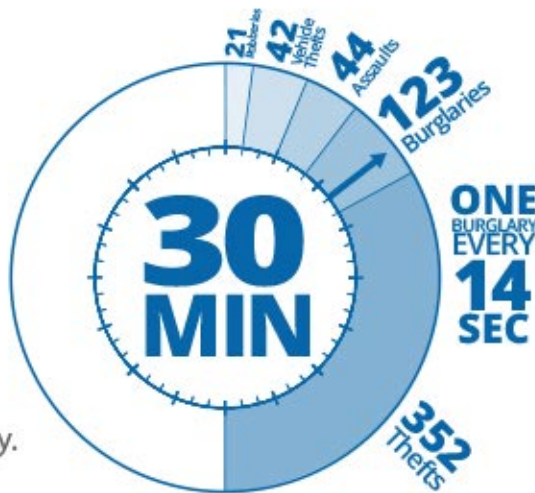

A simple tap on the bump key causes the pins to bounce.

With all of the pins away from the cylinder the lock will turn freely.

FBI Burglary Overview

- Each Year there are over 2 Million home burglaries
- Average dollar loss per burglary offense was $2,119
- Entry breakdown:
 - 60% Forcible entry
 - 33% Without force
 - 6% Attempted forcible entry
